

THE POCHE WEEKLY RECORD.

SATURDAY.....MARCH 10, 1877

The Legislature of the State of Nevada adjourned at 12 o'clock last night. The throwing of ink bottles and other disgraceful scenes which characterized the closing of the last Legislature were wanting, and the members showed a proper appreciation of their own and the State's dignity, by adjourning in a quiet and orderly manner. During the session an average amount of ability has been displayed, but unfortunately much needed legislation has been left undone. On the whole the people of Nevada can thank their representatives for having done no particular harm, if they have done no good, and send them back to private life with a cordial good-bye.—[Gold Hill News.]

Yes, Mr. News, they did no harm, but they are not to be blamed for that, for they tried to do all the harm they possibly could, and if there had not been a good, honest old man in the gubernatorial chair guarding over the people's interests our legislators would have done considerable harm.

It can be safely said that every representative in the late Nevada Legislature, who betrayed the people who sent them there by voting for the repeal or compromise of the bullion tax will never again contaminate the legislative halls of the Capitol with their worthless and putrefactive carcasses as representatives of a free people. Only the slaves, those miserable low dogs who represent Storey county, and who are owned by the mines of that district and are afraid to call their lives their own, will be the only miserable wretches in the Legislature, but they will be so weak, sunk so far in oblivion, that their presence will not be noticed by the honest men any more than the Newfoundland dog notices the little barking poodle at his heels.

PAPER FOR AUSTIN.—While at the Capital on Monday, says the Silver City Times man, we met the renowned Fred Hart, the "Toby Green" of the Gold Hill News, and long the editor of the Reese River Reville. Fred seems to be much improved in health (but not in morals) and informs us that he will commence the publication of a new daily Republican paper at Austin, Nevada, on or about the first of April (this is to be no April fool, however). Fred is well known as a writer throughout the State, and his new venture will undoubtedly be a success.

THE ANTI-WIFE-BEATING LAW.—Senator Stewart, says the Virginia Chronicle, calls the attention of commissioners and peace officers to the fact that the anti-wife-beating bill passed both Houses of the Legislature and was signed by the Governor some time since. It is now the law of the State, and fixes a heavy penalty on officers neglecting to enforce its provisions. Hereafter wife-beaters must stand in the pillory or Senator Stewart will demand to know the reason why. Wife-beaters should take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

When the editor of the Virginia Enterprise heard of Governor Bradley vetoing the bullion-tax compromise bill, he threw away his smelling salts, went out and secured a skunk, put it in a little blue glass jar, set it on the table at his side, and every other line he wrote about our honest Governor, he would take a sniff of the essence of skunk, and then go for our much respected Head of State in language worthy of only such papers as the Enterprise, News Letter, and all other obscene and blackmailing sheets.

The Virginia Chronicle makes a very weak attempt to prove that General Buell was the hero of "Shiloh." General Buell never won but one victory in his life, and that victory he won over the Union soldiers, near Nashville, Tenn., by making them spit rails for the rebel citizens. Perhaps this is the reason why the Chronicle is an admirer of General Buell.

A little school-boy of Virginia City being told that every donkey had a gold dollar in his left hind heel, and that he could pick it out with a knife, copied the editor of the Enterprise walking along the street, and running up behind him, he caught hold of that individual's leg and commenced going for the gold dollar with his knife.

The San Francisco Alta comes to hand addressed "Pocche, California." The Alta imagines because Nevada is represented by a Californian in the U. S. Senate that this State belongs to the "Chinese Territory."

Every time the Virginia Enterprise cooked its ears forward and brayed in favor of the repeal of the bullion tax, the Virginia Chronicle wagged its tail.

Hayes is President, the country's safe, and everything will be running along smoothly again in a few days.

Hurrah for the Bradleys!

DAVID MCKENDREE KEY.

Since the arrival of a private dispatch three days ago giving the names of the members of the Cabinet selected by Mr. Hayes, the citizens of Pocche have been very diligently trying to discover something about Mr. Key, the gentleman selected by President Hayes to take charge of the Postoffice Department. We glean the following concerning Mr. Key from a Congressional dictionary, which Senator Jones kindly forwarded to us a short time ago:

David McKendree Key, of Chattanooga, was born in Green county, Tennessee, January 27, 1824; his family moved in 1826 into Monroe county, where he was raised on a farm, studying at the Winter schools; entered Hwassee College in 1845 and graduated in 1850; studied law, was admitted to the bar and entered into practice at Chattanooga in 1853; was a Presidential elector on the Buchanan and Breckinridge ticket in 1856, and on the Breckinridge and Lane ticket in 1860; entered the Confederate army in 1861, and served through the entire war as Lieutenant-Colonel of the forty-third Tennessee infantry; was a member of the State Constitutional Convention of Tennessee in 1870; was elected Chancellor of the Third Chancery District in 1870, and held that position until appointed to the United States Senate in 1875 as a Democrat, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Andy Johnson. His term of service will expire with the meeting of the Legislature of Tennessee.

The Virginia Enterprise of the 4th inst., in its eulogy on General Grant, states that but for the firm adherence of "Governor Washburne" he would have been superceded. This is a mistake, it was not "Governor Washburne," it was E. B. Washburne, who was then a Congressman from Illinois, and who is at present U. S. Minister to France. Mr. Washburne, through his influence, not only brought Mr. Grant into prominence, but also Generals Bob Malpy, John E. Smith, John A. Rollins and several other Generals, who also made themselves quite conspicuous on the battle-fields during the late "unpleasantness."

HAYES CABINET.—The following are the appointments to Cabinet positions made by President R. B. Hayes on Wednesday last: Secretary of State, William M. Evarts of New York; Secretary of the Treasury, John Sherman of Ohio; Secretary of the Interior, Carl Schurz of Missouri; Secretary of War, Richard W. Thompson of Indiana; Secretary of the Navy, General Charles Devens of Massachusetts; Postmaster General, D. M. Key of Tennessee; Attorney General, G. W. McCrary of Iowa.

Governor Bradley, on Friday, sent the following dispatch to the editor of the Reno Gazette:

CARSON, March 2, 1877.
EDITOR GAZETTE: Any statement whatever that I ever agreed to sign the so-called Compromise bill is totally false.
L. R. BRADLEY.

The proprietor of the Virginia Chronicle, who believes in the bullion tax, lent his paper to aid in trying to secure the repeal of the same.

Mr. Ferry, President of the Senate, signed the declaration of Hayes' election with an eagle quill sent to him from the West for that purpose.

John Booth, proprietor of the Austin Reville, denies that he has made negotiations for the disposal of that paper to Fred Hart.

The Salt Lake Tribune says that two prominent Democrats of that city lost bets amounting in the aggregate to $55,000.

Jack McCall, the murderer of Wild Bill, was executed on the 1st inst. at Yankton, Dakota Territory.

Washington is full of office-seekers, but 'tis said there will be very few changes made.

HONEST OFFICIALS.—A Carson gentleman writes to the San Francisco Call as follows: "My attention was called to an article in your paper which mentions the fact that the Treasurer of Nevada paid over to the State an unexpended balance of $1,183. Now, this is correct; but as a citizen of this State I desire that you should state through the columns of your paper that the Secretary of State turned over to the General Fund $40.75, and the Surveyor General, John Day, surrendered $1,294.50, the amount of balance remaining in their respective funds. I simply ask this as a favor, that the people at large may see that we have more than one honest State official."

A party of vegetarians who were boarding at a water-cure establishment, while taking a walk in the fields, were attacked by a bull, which chased them furiously out of his pasture. "That's your gratitude, is it, you great, hateful thing!" exclaimed one of the ladies, panting with fright and fatigue. "After this I'll eat beef three times a day."

STATE ITEMS.

Silver State, 3d: The motions for arrest of judgment and for a new trial in the case of the State vs. Harry Thompson, alias Huff, were denied to-day, and defendant was sentenced to be hanged on Friday, April 20th, 1877, between the hours of nine o'clock A. M. and 5 o'clock P. M.

Nevada Tribune: Our handsome young friend, Senator Westcott, unlocked himself on Thursday evening and delivered an address of two minutes duration. All were thunderstruck, and a rush was made to the Speaker's desk in order to inquire whether partial paralysis had seized him.

The Eureka Sentinel says: We understand that work is to be resumed at the Atlas mine immediately. The law by which the owners were enjoined from continuing work has been repealed, and the Supreme Court injunction will be of no effect.

The system of dragging the river, adopted yesterday, says the Elko Independent, resulted in the recovery of the body of Mrs. Lane—an account of whose death we published yesterday—at 10:30 A. M. Notwithstanding the day was very stormy, the search was continued for several hours in hopes of finding the body of her little son, but without avail. The work of dragging the stream will be resumed this morning, and the funeral has been deferred to 3 o'clock P. M. in order that, if possible, the child may lie with its mother.

Virginia Enterprise, 3d: Yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, Thomas Wilson, a miner in the incline of the Consolidated Imperial, was overcome by the heat and died. It was his first day in the mine, he having gone on with the 3 o'clock shift in the afternoon. The deceased was a large, fleshy man, and had been out of employment in the mines for some time. He was at work, with his shift, in the incline below the 2000 foot level, when he became heated. There are in the mine cooling places, where men resort to cool off, but it is supposed that the deceased, while he was acquainted with these, did not consider himself in any degree likely to be overcome, and thus neglected the usual precaution of retiring there. Being also a new hand in the mine, he was doubtless desirous of proving his efficiency, and thus continued to labor when he should have stopped. His body was conveyed to the surface and carried to the undertaker's, and Coroner Hodges notified, who at once made arrangements for an inquest, which will be held in Gold Hill at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Carson Appeal: The Capitol yesterday was comparatively deserted, most of the legislators having departed for their homes in different parts of the State. It is like breaking up school for a vacation, and those of us who remain here will feel a loneliness for a time. Although the Legislature may have passed some questionable resolutions and bills, yet on the whole the session was an excellent one, and the strangers on their departure bear with them the best wishes of their Carson friends. Many of these were well treated while here, and recognized in more instances than one the hospitality of our people, and they, too, express in return a wish for the future success and happiness of the friends they are leaving behind. This interchange of thought and good feeling is a good thing in itself, and it is to be hoped that the friendships formed within the last two months will be lasting and not lessened by a change of time or place.

STATES AND PRESIDENTS.

It is now a certainty that the State of Ohio is to furnish the country, for the second time, with a President. Her first contribution to the Executive galaxy was William Henry Harrison, in 1840. Among the several States of the Union, Virginia has directly furnished five—Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe and Tyler, indirectly two—Harrison and Taylor. Massachusetts has furnished two, directly—John Adams and John Quincy Adams. New York two, directly—Van Buren and Fillmore; New Hampshire one, directly—Pierce; Pennsylvania, one, directly—Buchanan; Tennessee has given the nation three Presidents—Jackson, Polk and Johnson, all of whom were born in North Carolina; Illinois two—Lincoln and Grant; Lincoln a native of Kentucky, Grant of Ohio.

But take the States that have furnished the important personages on election day and we have Virginia (including Tyler), 5; Tennessee (including Johnson), 3; Massachusetts, 2; New York (including Fillmore), 2; Louisiana (Taylor), 1; New Hampshire, 1; Pennsylvania, 1; with a probable 2 for Ohio.

The States that thus far have the honor of being the birth-places of Presidents are Virginia, New York, Massachusetts, South Carolina, North Carolina, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Ohio.

THE RULING PASSION STRONG IN DEBT.—One of the discoveries made by the latest art explorers is that the length of a polar night is one hundred and forty-two days. "What a glorious place that would be," says Brown, "in which to tell a man with a bill to call round the day after to-morrow and get his money!"

Bret Harte has written a poem on the late Gen. W. F. Bartlett. Joaquin Miller's latest begins: "Love me, love, but breathe it low." She must be an onion-eater.

It is estimated that the number of ladies who cannot pass a mirror without looking into it averages about twelve to every dozen.

"Have you ever read Watts on the mind?" asked a lady of an old bachelor. "Oh, exclaimed he, 'if you only knew what's on my mind, and yet I dare not tell you!'" "Why, do tell!" cried she. He did. The wedding came off in a month.

"I detest masquerades," said a beautiful lady to a gallant officer. "No wonder, madam," he replied, "since you do so much execution unmasked."

When a policeman marries he is in a very short time confronted by the great problem of life, viz: where to hide his club so that his wife can't find it.
